Select List of Displaced Student Status Indicators

Several states have developed data elements to help track displaced students and record crisis information. The table below presents a select list of displaced student status indicators and crisis codes that are used by states. While this list includes elements that are used during and following a crisis that displaces students, it does not include a comprehensive list of all possible data elements that could be used to track displaced students and record crisis information, nor does it include data elements that collect required data for federal collections on homeless education programs. The information is not exhaustive, and there may be additional examples not presented in this table. State and local education agencies (SEAs and LEAs) may find this list useful as they refine their existing student information systems to capture data related to displaced students and crisis situations.
