I. About This Sample Questions Booklet

On behalf of the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), I want to thank you for your participation in this essential measure of student achievement in the United States. NAEP tells us what students in our country know and can do in various subjects.

In 2017, the NAEP mathematics, reading, and writing assessments will be administered to fourth- and eighth-grade students throughout the nation on NAEP-provided tablets. Some students will participate in pilot digitally based assessments in mathematics and reading, and eighth-grade students will also take pilot assessments on tablets in U.S. history, civics, and geography. Information collected from the pilots will be used to prepare for the full transition to digitally based assessments by the end of the decade. Additionally, some students will take paper-and-pencil versions of the mathematics and reading assessments. Administering these two assessments via both tablet and paper and pencil will help NAEP evaluate any differences in student performance related to the delivery mode.

As part of the NAEP assessments, students will also complete brief survey questionnaires about themselves and their educational experiences in and outside of the classroom. For example, students may be asked how often they use a computer for math in school, or how often they read for fun on their own time. By asking questions about students’ opportunities to learn as well as their learning experiences, NAEP survey questionnaires collect valuable information that contextualizes student performance for educators, policymakers, and researchers. It also allows for more in-depth analyses of the national assessment results and students' learning environments. To learn more about NAEP survey questionnaires, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/bgquest.aspx.

Each NAEP assessment takes approximately 90 to 120 minutes for a student to complete, and each student answers questions in only one subject. NAEP results are reported for the nation, states, and selected large urban districts, but not for individual schools or students. Answers to all student questions are confidential, and student names are removed from all assessment materials before leaving the school. Results of the 2017 mathematics, reading, and writing assessments will be reported as The Nation’s Report Card. Assessment results are widely discussed in the press and are used by educators, researchers, policymakers, and elected officials to make decisions about education policy and funding.

This booklet includes the NAEP 2017 survey questionnaires for grade 8 for mathematics, reading, and writing, as well as sample questions for these three subjects in order to promote understanding of the assessment.

To review additional sample questions and answers, access the NAEP Questions Tool at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/ntag. Additional information for teachers and schools can be found at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/educators, including more details about the NAEP assessment and the critical role of educators in the NAEP program.

If you have any questions or comments regarding NAEP or would like to view previous report cards, please visit the NAEP website at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard. To learn more about NAEP digitally based assessments and view tutorials, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/dba.

Peggy G. Carr, Ph.D.
Acting Commissioner
National Center for Education Statistics
Institute of Education Sciences

NAEP is administered by the National Center for Education Statistics, within the U.S. Department of Education's Institute of Education Sciences. Policy for the assessment, including its content and standards, is set by the independent, bipartisan National Assessment Governing Board (http://www.nagb.org).
II. The NAEP Assessments

Each NAEP assessment is built around an organizing framework, which is the blueprint that guides the development of the assessment. The National Assessment Governing Board oversees the development of the NAEP frameworks, which describe the specific knowledge and skills to be assessed in each subject. Frameworks incorporate ideas and input from subject area experts, school administrators, policymakers, teachers, parents, and others.

An increasing number of schools are making digital tools an integral part of the learning environment. These changes reflect that the knowledge and skills needed for future postsecondary success involve the use of new technologies.

NAEP is evolving to address the changing educational landscape through its transition to digitally based assessments. These digitally based assessments reflect the growing use of technology in education, and will allow NAEP to collect new types of data that will enhance our understanding of what students know and can do in various subjects. Some questions may include multimedia, such as audio and video. Other questions may allow the use of embedded technological features (such as an onscreen calculator) to form a response, or may engage students in solving problems within realistic scenarios.

In 2017, most fourth- and eighth-grade students will take the mathematics and reading assessments on touch-screen tablets with keyboards, and a subset of students will take paper-and-pencil versions of these assessments. The writing assessment will be administered exclusively on touch-screen tablets with keyboards.

The new NAEP digitally based assessments incorporate cutting-edge learning technologies. At the beginning of each assessment, students take a brief interactive tutorial designed to teach them about the system and the tools they use to take the assessment. These tutorials help ensure that students can effectively use the tools during the assessment. Some parts of the tutorials are the same across subjects, while other parts are specific to each subject. For example, because mathematics uses different tools at each grade, there are different tutorials for each grade in mathematics.

To learn more about NAEP digitally based assessments and view a NAEP tutorial, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/dba.
According to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number. The valid OMB control number for this voluntary information collection is 1850-0928. The time required to complete this information collection is estimated to average 75 minutes for paper-and-pencil assessments and 90 minutes for digitally based assessments, including the time to review instructions, search existing data resources, gather the data needed, and complete and review the information collection. If you have any comments concerning the accuracy of the time estimate, suggestions for improving this collection, or any comments or concerns regarding the status of your individual submission of this form, please write to: National Assessment of Educational Progress, National Center for Education Statistics, PCP, 550 12th St., SW, 4th floor, Washington, DC 20202.

Mathematics
Grade 8

The NAEP 2017 mathematics assessment measures students’ ability to solve problems in five mathematics content strands: Number Properties and Operations; Measurement; Geometry; Data Analysis, Statistics, and Probability; and Algebra. Within each of these five content strands, students are asked questions of low, moderate, or high mathematical complexity. Mathematical complexity is a measure of the level of demand placed on a student’s thinking in order to answer a question correctly.

The NAEP mathematics assessment includes multiple-choice, short constructed-response, and extended constructed-response questions. The short and extended constructed-response questions allow students to communicate their ideas and demonstrate the reasoning they used to solve problems. The short constructed-response and extended constructed-response questions combined make up approximately 50 percent of student assessment time.

In 2017, some students will take the paper-and-pencil version of the mathematics assessment, and some will take a digitally based assessment on touch-screen tablets with keyboards. The paper-and-pencil version of the assessment incorporates the use of calculators, rulers, protractors, and other ancillary materials such as geometric shapes, in some parts of the assessment, but not all. During the digitally based assessment, students will have access to onscreen tools that will help them interact with the assessment. Some of these in-system tools include a scratchwork tool, a calculator, a math keyboard, magnification, a read-aloud option, and a progress bar and timer.

Calculator use is permitted on approximately 30 percent of the test questions. NAEP provides a scientific calculator for students who receive a section of questions where calculator use is permitted.

For more information regarding the mathematics assessment framework, please visit the Governing Board’s website at www.nagb.org/publications/frameworks.htm.

Digitally Based Assessment Directions

Below are the General Directions for the mathematics digitally based assessment. Students will see these instructions on the screen prior to beginning the assessment.

This assessment has several sections of mathematics questions. When you are finished with these sections, you will be asked to answer questions about yourself and your experiences in and out of school.

If time runs out before you complete a section, your work will be saved.

Tap Next to begin.

Here is an example of directions a student might see during the mathematics assessment.

This section has 15 mathematics questions. You have 30 minutes to complete this section.

You cannot use the calculator in this section.

If you finish before time is up, you may review your work.

Tap Next to continue.
Paper-and-Pencil Assessment Directions

This assessment uses many different booklets. Each booklet has different questions. Do not worry if the person next to you is working on questions that do not look like those you are working on.

Read each question carefully and answer it as well as you can. Do not spend too much time on any one question.

For some of the questions you may need to write or draw the answer. You can see how this is done in the example below.

Draw a circle in the space below.

You may be permitted to use a calculator for at least one part of your booklet. You may use either your own calculator or the calculator provided by NAEP. If you are permitted to use a calculator, you will have to decide when to use it in each section where its use is permitted. For some questions using the calculator is helpful, but for other questions the calculator may not be helpful.

If you are using the calculator provided by NAEP, make sure you know how to use it. There are instructions on the back cover of this booklet to help you. If the calculator does not work or if you do not know how to use it, raise your hand and ask for help.

REMEMBER:

Read each question CAREFULLY.

Fill in only ONE OVAL for each question or write your answer in the space provided.

If you change your answer, ERASE your first answer COMPLETELY.

CHECK OVER your work if you finish a section early.

Do not go past the [STOP] sign at the end of each section until you are told to do so.

The NAEP 2017 reading assessment measures students’ ability to understand, to interpret, and to think critically about grade-appropriate texts. Recognizing that readers vary their approach according to the demands of different types of text, the NAEP framework specifies the assessment of reading in two major text types: literary text and informational text. The assessment includes reading materials selected from publications and other resources typically available to students in and out of school.

The reading framework for the NAEP reading assessment conceptualizes reading as a dynamic cognitive process. The framework suggests reading is a complex process that includes:

- an assessment design based on current scientific reading research,
- a focused measurement of vocabulary, and
- objective measurements of reading behaviors (cognitive targets).

The NAEP reading assessment contains multiple-choice questions, as well as short and extended constructed-response questions. At grade 8, students spend approximately 60 percent of their assessment time providing written answers to constructed-response questions.

In 2017, some students will take the paper-and-pencil version of the reading assessment, and some will take a digitally based assessment on touch-screen tablets with keyboards. During the digitally based assessment, students will have access to onscreen tools that will help them navigate the assessment. Some of these tools include a help window, zoom tool, progress bar and timer, a read-aloud option, and an annotation tool, which will allow them to use an onscreen pencil and highlighter tools to mark up passages and items.

For more information regarding the reading assessment framework, please visit the Governing Board’s website at http://www.nagb.org/publications/frameworks.htm.

Digitally Based Assessment Directions

Below are the General Directions for the reading digitally based assessment. Students will see these instructions on the screen prior to beginning the assessment.

This assessment has several sections of reading passages and questions. When you are finished with these sections, you will be asked to answer questions about yourself and your experiences in and out of school.

If time runs out before you complete a section, your work will be saved.

Tap Next to begin.

Here is an example of directions a student might see during the reading assessment.

In this section, you have 30 minutes to read a story and a poem and answer 10 questions about them.

If you finish before time is up, you may review your work.

Tap Next to continue.
Paper-and-Pencil Assessment Directions

In each of the next two sections, you will have 25 minutes to read one or two passages and to answer questions about what you have read.

You will be asked to respond to two types of questions. The first type of question requires you to choose the best answer and fill in the oval for that answer in your booklet. Some questions of this type will ask you about the meaning of a word as it is used in the passage.

The other type of question requires you to write your answer on the blank lines in your booklet. Some questions of this type will ask you to write a short answer and some questions will ask you to write a longer answer.

Here is an example of a question that requires you to write a short answer.

Do you think “Summer Adventure” was a good title for the story? Explain why or why not using details from the story.

I think “Summer Adventure” was a good title for the story because the main character, Joe, got to go on a trip to Alaska where he saw Mt. McKinley.
Here is an example of a question that requires you to write a longer, more detailed answer.

Joe has different feelings during his trip in Alaska. Describe two different feelings Joe had and explain what caused him to have those feelings.

Joe was lonely when he first arrived in Alaska because he was missing his friends back home. But then he met Jerry and Pat and felt better. When Jerry’s parents took them all to Portage Lake, Joe felt excited because they went on a boat ride across a lake filled with icebergs to see the blue glacier.

Think carefully about each question. When you are writing your response, make your answer as complete as possible. Be sure your handwriting is clear. Use as many lines as you need.

You may go back to the passage when answering the questions.

If you finish before time is called, read over your work to be sure you have provided your best answer.

Tech-Trash Tragedy

by Liam O’Donnell

In our wired world, technology moves at a laser-fast pace. Every day, a new gadget arrives and promises to bring us the future, today. In the race for faster computers and more-powerful gadgets, it’s easy to forget about yesterday’s high-tech wonders.

Unfortunately, used computers and gadgets end up in landfills across the country. Each year, we throw away 12 million computers. And that is not good news for the environment. To make our gadgets work, many of them use materials like lead and mercury. When mercury and lead end up in a landfill, they spread poisons into the earth, water, and air for miles around. This is called e-waste—and it’s becoming a big pollution problem around the world.

Big problems call for big solutions, so adults and kids from dozens of countries are working hard to clean up our e-waste. And you can help, too.

Turning Old Into New

The trick to stopping e-waste is to catch it before it gets into the landfill. That’s why some seventh-grade students at a school in Michigan organized a computer drop-off event. They put up posters and spread the word around the town, telling people to bring out their old computers.

And the people got the message. They dropped off dozens of old computers, monitors, and printers at the school. Craig Greshaw, the school’s computer teacher who helped organize the event, believes that knowing about computers goes beyond surfing the Web. “Part of that is learning about the chemicals inside the computers and what needs to be done with them to keep them safe,” he told the town newspaper during the recycling drive. With their school gym filled with old computers, the students were ready for the next step in cleaning up the high-tech trash: turning old computers into new ones.

That’s where companies like RePC step in. The Seattle company takes e-waste and turns it into e-gold. “Almost all of the parts of a computer can be reused or recycled,” says Mark Dabek, owner of RePC. Any computer parts that can’t be reused or sold get recycled in a way that won’t hurt the environment. “The circuit boards are sent to a circuit board recycler that chops them and sends them to a facility with a very, very hot furnace called ‘the reactor,’” Dabek says. After the computer parts are safely crushed and burned, their raw materials can be reused to make everything from appliances to office buildings.

Sometimes you can make a new computer from the parts of an old computer. Called refurbishing, it’s what the tech whizzes at RePC do best. Buying a refurbished computer is a lot cheaper than buying a new one. But who wants a computer made up of old parts?

A lot of people, actually. Places like schools and community centers are often short on cash, but need computers to help them get things done. Robert Sterling, a computer teacher at a high school in California, uses computers donated from local businesses to motivate students and teach them about recycling. “If kids learn to recycle everything,” says Sterling, “they will set a good example for some of the older people who are not in the habit yet of recycling every day.”

Recycling old computers is big business, and there are many other companies like RePC across the country. Many big charities have computer-recycling programs too, but be sure to call them first before you drop off any equipment.

Computers aren’t the only technology that can be reused. Last year, schools in New Mexico gave old cell phones a new lease on life while also helping to raise money for charity. The students collected eleven garbage bags of old cell phones, sold them to a cell phone refurbishing company, donated the money to charity, and helped keep the environment clean—all at the same time.

Building a Greener Future

Some computer makers are tackling tech trash by designing more environmentally responsible products. More new computers are made with recycled plastic and use less electricity. Many also have no lead in their circuits, which makes them less damaging to the environment. The same goes for those new flat monitors. Not only do they look cool, but they also use less-harmful chemicals.

Computers are an important part of our wired world. It’s up to us to make sure that they don’t pollute our planet. Talking to others about e-waste is a great way to start tackling the problem. Speak to your teacher about organizing a computer collection drive at your school. Next time your baseball team is raising money, try collecting old cell phones. By working together for a clean future, we can make e-waste a thing of the past.

The following sample questions and correct student responses are available on the NAEP Questions Tool. For additional sample questions and responses, visit http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/nqt/.

1. Which of the following does the author primarily use to persuade his readers to help fight e-waste?

- Real-world examples
- Interviews with scientists
- Comparison and contrast
- Historical context
I think solving the problem of tech trash will be less difficult because more and more kids are getting involved and setting a good example for some of the older people who are not yet in the habit of recycling everyday. Another reason why this problem will be less difficult is because some computer makers are designing more environmentally responsible products. This is why I think it will be less difficult to solve the tech trash problem.
Writing
Grade 8

The NAEP 2017 digitally based writing assessment will be administered to eighth-grade students on touch-screen tablets with keyboards provided by NAEP for the assessment. Each tablet will be equipped with an attached mouse, and each student will also get a stylus pen. The 2017 writing assessment measures three purposes for writing, as specified in the 2017 writing framework: (1) To Convey Experience, Real or Imagined; (2) To Explain; and (3) To Persuade. To Convey Experience tasks require students to communicate individual and imagined experiences to others; To Explain tasks require students to write to expand the reader’s understanding of an issue or topic; and To Persuade tasks require students to write to change the reader’s point of view or affect the reader’s actions. The distribution of tasks at grade 8 as specified by the framework is shown in the table below.

Across the three purposes for writing, students are asked to respond in a variety of forms. These forms include essays, letters, speeches, stories, and articles. To Explain and To Persuade tasks require students to write for a specified or clearly implied audience, such as a teacher, a principal, a school board, or peers. Writing tasks in the 2017 digitally based assessment incorporate an array of stimulus materials, including multimedia stimuli such as short videos and audio, as well as color photographs, newspaper articles, and poems.

The NAEP 2017 Writing Framework asserts that “the technology used to compose is an important part of the writing process and reflects new conditions for writing at school and at work.” Each student participating in the assessment will receive two 30-minute writing tasks on the tablet and will use an interface allowing the use of standard word-processing tools, such as cut and paste and spell-check. Students will be given paper and pencil for planning their writing and told they may use the tablet for planning their writing if they prefer. In addition, all participating students are provided with a writing strategies brochure, reminding them of various ways to plan and review their writing. For more information regarding the writing assessment framework, please visit the National Assessment Governing Board’s website at http://nagb.org/publications/frameworks.htm.

You are now ready to do a writing task.

Read the task carefully. You have 30 minutes to write your response. Do the best you can in the time allowed.

Your writing will be judged on how well you develop your ideas and how well you express yourself.

If you choose to plan your writing, these tools are available to you:

• Pencil and planning paper
• Tablet
• Ideas for Planning and Reviewing Your Writing handout

Open the Writing panel to type your response.

If you finish before time is up, reread your writing and make revisions you think are necessary. You cannot go on until 30 minutes are up.

Writing Task: Support a School Schedule

Writing Purpose: To Persuade

Sample Task

Imagine that the article shown below appeared in your local newspaper. Read the article carefully; then write a letter to your principal arguing for or against the proposition that classes at your school should begin and end much later in the day. Be sure to give detailed reasons to support your argument and make it convincing.

Studies Show Students Need To Sleep Late
Night Owls Versus Early Birds

The Journal of Medicine announced today the results of several recent studies on the sleep patterns of teenagers and adults. These studies show that adults and teenagers often have different kinds of sleep patterns because they are at different stages in the human growth cycle.

The study on teenagers’ sleep patterns showed that changes in teenagers’ growth hormones are related to sleeping patterns. In general, teenagers’ energy levels are at their lowest in the morning, between 9 a.m. and 12 noon. To make the most of students’ attention span and ability to learn, the study showed that most teenagers need to stay up late at night and to sleep late in the morning. They called this pattern “the night owl syndrome.”

Studies of adults (over 30 years of age) showed the opposite sleep pattern. On average, adults’ energy levels were at their lowest at night between 9 p.m. and 12 midnight and at their highest between 6 and 9 a.m. In addition, a study of adults of different ages revealed that as adults get older they seem to wake up earlier in the morning. Thus, adults need to go to sleep earlier in the evening. Researchers called this sleep pattern “the early bird syndrome.”

Researchers claim that these studies should be reviewed by all school systems and appropriate changes should be made to the daily school schedule.
Dear Principal,

I am an eighth grade student in your school, and I believe that the schedule should not be changed. While it may be true that students are not at their fullest potential in the morning, it is also true that teachers are not at their fullest potential in the afternoon. If you did change the schedule, the students may be more ready to learn, but the teachers will be less ready to teach. What good is it to have potentially good students if they cannot be taught well? At least if the teachers are teaching their best to students some information has to settle into their minds. If the teachers can teach well enough, the students will learn what they need to, regardless of whether they feel like learning or not. It doesn’t take much of an effort for students to hear the information, but it takes a lot for a teacher to process the information, figure out how to give it to the students in an understandable form and then actually teach it to them.

Also, if students are awake and fully energized, there is more of a chance they may cause a disturbance in the classroom. Furthermore, if teachers are tired, they won’t be as strict as they should be, and the disturbances will worsen.

The way the schedule is set up now, both students and teachers have a fair share of suitable times. The teachers have the morning and the students have the afternoon.

I know you will probably be receiving lots of student letters arguing for schedule changes, so please keep my letter in mind as you read them.

Thank you.
III. NAEP Survey Questionnaires

What are the NAEP survey questionnaires?
Each year, students who take the NAEP assessments also complete NAEP survey questionnaires. These survey questionnaires are used to collect contextual information about students’ opportunities to learn in and outside of the classroom as well as their educational experiences. This information helps put student achievement results into context and allows for meaningful comparison between student groups. NAEP survey questionnaires provide important information for educators, policymakers, and researchers that allow in-depth analyses to better understand the context in which students learn.

Who participates in NAEP survey questionnaires?
NAEP survey questionnaires are voluntary and are given to students who participate in the NAEP assessments. Students have 15 minutes to complete the questions, which are located at the end of the assessment. While they are encouraged to answer as many questions as they feel comfortable with, students can skip any part of the survey questionnaire by leaving the response to a question blank.

Why is student participation in NAEP survey questionnaires important?
NAEP is the only measure of how students across the nation are performing in various subjects. Knowing how students perform on the NAEP assessment, and exploring patterns, such as how different student groups perform over time, are important steps in measuring educational equity in the United States and improving the education system.

How does NAEP protect the personal information of students and schools?
NAEP is confidential. NAEP assessment and survey questionnaire results cannot be linked to any student’s personally identifiable information such as name or address. As an additional protection against the disclosure of school or student data, data are handled at all times in accordance with applicable federal standards and industry best practices.

Find out more about the NAEP survey questionnaires
The following pages contain the NAEP 2017 survey questionnaires that will be administered to students who take the NAEP digitally based assessments. To access the NAEP survey questionnaires online, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/bgquest.aspx. To learn more about NAEP survey questionnaires, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/bgquest_faq.aspx.

IV. Enhanced NAEP Questions Tool

Introduction

After every assessment cycle, the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) releases dozens of assessment questions to the public. The NAEP Questions Tool (NQT) allows users to search for questions by subject, grade, difficulty, and other characteristics. You can also view scoring guides, keys, national performance data, demographic group data, and student responses (for constructed-response questions only). The tool also allows users to create customized reports and to print selected questions and all relevant information. The purpose of the NQT is to provide teachers, researchers, educators, and the public with greater access to NAEP assessment questions.

How do I access the NAEP Questions Tool?

The NQT is available online at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/nqt. The tool can also be accessed by clicking the “Sample Questions” link on The Nation’s Report Card home page at http://nationsreportcard.gov.

What can I do with the enhanced NAEP Questions Tool?

NCES has developed an enhanced version of the NAEP Questions Tool (NQT) that expands on its current features to make the tool more useful than ever. You can now use the enhanced NQT to:

- Sort and select NAEP questions more easily with a new “drag ‘n drop” viewing option
- “Test yourself” on any NAEP subject with a more customizable quiz function
- Create online, self-scoring quizzes that students can login to take any time
- Compare results to how students performed across the nation

If you need help navigating the NQT, there is a Help button on every page. For more information on how to use the NQT, visit http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/about/naeptools.asp#qrg.

Where can I find more information about the subjects NAEP assesses?

The NAEP website contains a wealth of information about the subjects NAEP assesses and can be accessed at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard.

How can I get additional help?

For more help with features on the NAEP website, click “Help” in the side panel.

For additional assistance, write to us via Contact Us at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/contactus.aspx, or e-mail Sherran.Osborne@ed.gov.
V. About NAEP

NAEP OVERVIEW. NAEP is the largest continuing and nationally representative assessment of what our nation's students know and can do in various academic subjects. NAEP is administered by the National Center for Education Statistics within the Institute of Education Sciences of the U.S. Department of Education. For more information about the NAEP program, visit the NAEP website at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard or call 202-316-3121.

PARTICIPATION. States and districts that receive Title I funds are required to participate in biennial NAEP reading and mathematics assessments at grades 4 and 8. Student participation is always voluntary. At the discretion of each school, students may earn community service hours for participating in NAEP activities and are provided ample opportunity to make up any work that is missed. Contact your school's NAEP coordinator for more information.

NAEP INFORMATION FOR PARENTS. If you have questions about your child's participation in the NAEP program, or you want to learn more about the NAEP assessments, visit https://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard/parents/.

NAEP CONTENT. The National Assessment Governing Board sets policy for NAEP and oversees the creation of the NAEP frameworks, which describe the specific knowledge and skills that should be assessed in each subject. For additional information on framework development, see the Governing Board's website at http://www.nagb.org/publications/frameworks.htm.

NAEP SECURE QUESTIONS. On written request, adults may review NAEP questions and instruments still in use. These arrangements must be made in advance, and persons reviewing the assessment may not remove the booklets from the room, copy them, or take notes. Contact your school's NAEP coordinator for more information.

NAEP PUBLICATIONS. NAEP reports and brochures can be searched and downloaded from the NAEP website at http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION. For prompt field staff support on these or other matters, call the NAEP help desk at 800–283–6237.

The work reported herein was supported under the National Assessment of Educational Progress (ED–07–CO–0078, ED–07–CO–0107) as administered by the National Center for Education Statistics, within the U.S. Department of Education.
